KY FURNEAUX

PROFESSIONAL BIO

Ky Furneaux is an Australian survival expert, keynote speaker, television host and author. A former Hollywood stunt performer and Taurus World Stunt Award winner, she brings experience from film, television and demanding survival environments to the stage and screen. Her work includes Naked and Afraid, Outback Lockdown and survival consulting on Send Help. Ky shares practical perspectives on resilience, adaptability and decision-making, alongside entertaining stories from behind the camera.

Ky's career connects outdoor skills, screen storytelling and personal resilience. Her experience as a Hollywood stunt performer gives her an understanding of the preparation, collaboration and adaptability required in demanding production environments.

Her survival television experience includes Naked and Afraid, Outback Lockdown and First Man Out. She also brings practical survival knowledge to film and television consulting, with support that can include script and concept development, cast preparation, survival scenario design and on-set advice.

As an author, Ky writes about outdoor skills, preparedness and self-reliance. Her books include Survive, When the Grid Fails and Adventure Awaits. Adventure Awaits received a 2026 International Book Award in Children's Educational and an IPPY Gold Medal.

On stage, Ky offers The Decision That Changes Everything, a keynote exploring decisions under pressure, adaptability and resilience. An Evening with Ky Furneaux: Hollywood Unscripted is an entertaining chat featuring film-set stories, celebrity encounters, stunt experiences and audience questions.

For speaking, production consulting and media enquiries, contact Finn Peterson at finnpeterson@flintandskyproductions.com. More information: https://kyfurneaux.com.